

a little love poem

when i imagine kissing you your lips are cold
and wet

but your mouth is warm

it tickles the back of my throat
this kiss

it reaches down into my heart and squeezes

with you
like this

anything* is possible